

I feel ya, Ophelia

By Stacey Rowe
Photographed by Will Strawser willstrawser.com

Midsummer nights have faded, but don't let that sink you. Before packing away all of your summer attire, remember that September and October typically provide Rochester with one or two final heat waves that could send you boating on Irondequoit Bay or sipping Prosecco by the Midtown Athletic Club pool.

Wear your rue with a difference

Don't get distraught over shielding yourself from the Indian summer sun or keeping your shoulders covered as nights get cooler. This wrap can easily transition from day to evening and the trendy floral print is far from frail.

Daniel Rainn floral kimono coverup available at Nordstrom Rack

Model: Katherine Brown

Dialed In

Thy eternal summer shall not fade

Add a little extra steam to your neighbor's hot tub gathering with this sleek one piece featuring a high neckline. For a quick change, add a bold accessory and a sarong wrap for an elegant after-party look.

Midsommar Swim Mather one piece